Sign the Apache CLA

The screenshot shows a web browser window displaying the Apache Individual Contributor License Agreement (CLA) V2.0. The browser's address bar shows the URL `http://www.apache.org/licenses/icla.txt`. The page content includes the title "The Apache Software Foundation Individual Contributor License Agreement ('Agreement') V2.0" and a URL `http://www.apache.org/licenses/`. The main text of the agreement explains the purpose of the CLA and provides instructions on how to sign and submit it. Below the text is a form with several fields for personal information, including full name, public name, mailing address, country, telephone, email, preferred Apache ID(s), and a project to notify. The form ends with a paragraph of terms and conditions.

The Apache Software Foundation
Individual Contributor License Agreement ("Agreement") V2.0
<http://www.apache.org/licenses/>

Thank you for your interest in The Apache Software Foundation (the "Foundation"). In order to clarify the intellectual property license granted with Contributions from any person or entity, the Foundation must have a Contributor License Agreement ("CLA") on file that has been signed by each Contributor, indicating agreement to the license terms below. This license is for your protection as a Contributor as well as the protection of the Foundation and its users; it does not change your rights to use your own Contributions for any other purpose. If you have not already done so, please complete and sign, then scan and email a pdf file of this Agreement to secretary@apache.org. Alternatively, you may send it by facsimile to the Foundation at +1-919-573-9199. If necessary, send an original signed Agreement to The Apache Software Foundation, Dept. 9660, Los Angeles, CA 90084-9660, U.S.A. Please read this document carefully before signing and keep a copy for your records.
